

Don't you get it? They stop giving us treats when we listen to them all the time. Dumb it down a little. Like, when they yell "COME," try wagging your tail, looking back and tilting your head so they think you're trying to understand. They love the head tilting thing.